Anyone here can you first explain me implication of changes in over all software. Queries, speed, security and stability?

Or each development or changes are done without any over-all thought process?

Hello,

Will have to discuss this point with Sir Kailash before implementing.

Query 1) : Will this module be same as Client rate except , client dropdown won't be there ?

Please check all the fields for both the form and then let us know.

Query 2) : Will the process of capturing employee rate for case be same as per the Client rate mater module ?

is it not possible to do it in current system?

If we keep doing modules for every small exception, system will go no where but MESS
